

LA Kings to Play “Frozen Fury” Preseason Game in Salt Lake City on Oct. 6 vs. Vegas at Vivint Arena

APRIL 4, 2022/LOS ANGELES – The LA Kings will again host Frozen Fury as part of the club’s 2022 NHL Preseason Schedule, the team announced today, as the club’s popular Frozen Fury exhibition series returns to Vivint Arena for a second consecutive season. The game will take place on Thursday, Oct. 6, as the Kings will face the Vegas Golden Knights.

Tickets for Frozen Fury presented by the Utah Sports Commission will go on sale at 10 a.m. MT on Thursday, April 7, online at vivintarena.com with presales to the Kings, Golden Knights, and Utah Jazz fans starting tomorrow, April 5. Ticketmaster is the only authorized ticketing outlet for events at Vivint Arena.

The game will mark the fourth time the Kings have played a preseason game in Salt Lake City since 2018, and the second time the Kings will play the Golden Knights in the Frozen Fury series, which is a Kings “home” game at Vivint Arena, the home of the Utah Jazz. Game time is scheduled for 7 p.m. (MT)/6 p.m. (PT). The Kings will also host youth and adult clinics prior to Frozen Fury 2022 with those details to be announced later.

Frozen Fury was created by the Kings in 1997 at the MGM Grand Hotel/Casino in Las Vegas, and the last Frozen Fury contest in Las Vegas took place six years ago as the first hockey games at Las Vegas’ then brand-new T-Mobile Arena.

The remainder of the 2022 LA Kings Preseason Schedule will be announced later this summer. The game in Salt Lake City marks the second game announced so far. The Kings will play the San Jose Sharks in an NHL preseason game at Toyota Arena in Ontario titled the ‘Empire Classic’ on Wednesday, Sept. 28, at 7 p.m.

The Kings begin a two-game homestand tonight at Crypto.com Arena as the Calgary Flames visit Los Angeles. Game time is 7:30 p.m.
